NUMBER 33.

Big Crowds Attended Norway's Dollar Day

Norway's first Dollar Day has passed the experimental stage. A practical demonstration, Saturday, proved that with every merchant awake to the idea, featuring articles of value properly advertised, there is a big population within this shopping radius ready to spend money on bargains.

Dollar Day was a success according to the testimony of nearly every business man on the street. Fine weather in the morning brought crowds from a distance in town early. Several stores had a waiting list an hour before opening time. Trading was not spasmodic, but a continuous flow until late in the evening. Advertisers bargained well the day before the sun, many stores having a clean up on features before noon. This big rush caught a few merchants unawares, not realizing the possibilities resulting from a strenuous publicity campaign. On the whole the shoppers were given every consideration through a well trained clerk service. If oversight did occur it was not by any means intentional, but due to crowded stores.

On reviewing the situation it is interesting to note that business men drew trade in proportion to their advertising. True that almost everyone in the shopping district admit a decided increase in cash trade, even without "specials" or extra news space. But it is the fellows who placed their wares attractive in black and white thus skimming the cream with the smiling assurance that August 11 was their best day in months. It is observed that the largest crowds followed the men who used both circulars in a mailing list and extra space in the local paper. This combination reaches all within Norway's trading zone. Shoppers from Fryeburg, Gilead, Bethel, Hebron, Harrison, Oxford and other territory proved that their wares attracted money and settled with the coin.

Dollar Day does not mean a big profit day. Discounts along the whole line were given. But this moved not only "reduced features" but returned into real money the staples of a "figure without sacrifice." The keen witted merchant can turn stocks today that are not likely to move next year, will be a success. This is a mutual benefit and our first Dollar Day has accomplished its mission and the event will increase trade a hundred fold.

Ellen Maria Partridge Wednesday afternoon, August 15, at the Central Maine General Hospital at Lewiston at the age of 71 years, 6 months and 24 days.

Married Man Accepted For Co. D

Alfred Dyer of Norway, with a wife and three small children has been accepted by the Adj. General at Washington, D. C., and assigned to his former company and at Augusta.
Private Dyer went to Texas with Company D, Second Maine Infantry and was honorably discharged when the militia men were taken into the Federal service in April. He is a British subject having been unable to receive his final naturalization papers because of slight technicality, but in reality a good loyal American citizen.

Political matters across the seas have shaped themselves in a way that caused him to realize it might be called to the English colors any day, where he would be forced among strangers to fight for a country which to him creates little enthusiasm. In speaking of this matter Priv. Dyer said one reason why he worked hard to be accepted was because of several unkind remarks made by some of the Americans, branding him as an "Alien" slave or without a back bone to go." While these cut deeply there were more important questions at stake that involved his life and young children. He said "the reason I am not a citizen is because I am an American citizen and have my children real Yankees as it is the only country. I have sacrificed home and everything congenial to do this. I could not lie forward to fight the blood of America go forward to fight, leaving the alien comfortably at home to enjoy the fruit of other person's labors."

Mrs. Dyer shares the same opinion as her husband and bravely gave her consent to his re-enlisting to represent the "Stars and Stripes" in the front if it need be. She has many dear relatives serving in the British army and in sending her husband to fight for an adopted country, sets an example that must shame a small army of selfish souls who flatteringly call themselves American citizens, but fail to measure up to the standards for patriots.

Norway High Alumni Meeting
The fourth annual business meeting of the Norway High School Alumni Association and Liberal Institute opened at the High School building at 3 P. M. on Wednesday, August 15. Dr. H. P. Jones, president, called the meeting to order and the Secretary and Treasurer reported. Both reports accepted.

An excellent program under the direction of Harriet S. Craigin, Ruth Cummings and Tessa Whitcomb followed the business session that included a piano duet, Dorothy and Louise Thomas; readings by Dora Kerwin, Berenice Nash and Ruth Akers rendered vocal solos. Dora Kerwin, although not an Alumnus, kindly gave her services which were greatly appreciated. The program of the Emerson College of Oratory. Her selections were "By the Grace of Sarah Mowd," "Johnnie's History Lesson," "The Thousandth Man," and "If."

The last two selections being from the pen of Kipling.
The customary banquet was given up this year owing to the high food prices, but the Alumni Ball held in Norway Opera House during the evening attracted a good balcony attendance and 65 couples for dancing. Garden raiding is becoming altogether too common. In ordinary years the victims would not mind this petty larceny, but while legitimately endeavoring to beat down inflated prices with the help of nature, this cheap business is about the last straw.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Norway who suffers back-ache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Norway man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Norway resident can doubt.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I am only too glad to say to others I think they are the best of kidney medicines. Several years ago I had a little kidney trouble. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store, and I was soon feeling all right again. I remained so for a long time, but later caught cold and my kidneys gave me trouble. I again took Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief." (Statement given July 24, 1908.)

On June 6, 1916 Mr. Foster added: "I think as well of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I first endorsed them. I use them occasionally, as I feel in need of them and I am always promptly benefited."

GIVE ME A DAY

Give me a day to steal away
Across the meadow green,
In summer time, when the weather's fine
And babbling brooks are seen.

Where the fields so wide,
Where gentle breezes always blow
Across the fields so wide,
Where the brooks are seen.

To stand beside the river bank
And watch its tranquil flow,
Where the blackbird and the bobolink
Will sing to me I know.

To carve my name upon an oak,
And stroll through pastures green,
On a grassy plot the world forgot,
There let me stay and dream.

To have my tiny tad
Leave his play and hear him say,
"Won't you take me Dad?"
To find new life from the world of strife—
With the birds and brook that rille—
To an strange and new to my soul within.
To the steady knock that kills.

OUR BEST

The dreamer sings of Elysian fields,
Where the just and true are purified,
Where never cloud or darkness,
Can darken, and no sin abide.

The robin sings his sweetest song,
Nor is content with harsher notes,
But ever his own best melody
Pours forth from tiny breast and throat.

The master paints with greatest care
The brightest landscape for the eye.
He sees only the fairest scenes,
The purest springs, the brightest sky.

The sculptor, who with skillful hand
Almost doth make dull clay to live,
Forms north his hand with destined touch,
The grandest that the world can give.

The mother bending o'er her child,
Sings but her sweetest melody,
Drawing for him her tenderest sigh,
Sings but her sweetest melody.

So ought we with the poet's soul,
The artist's eye, the craftsman's hand,
Demand the noblest and the best,
Jennie E. Snow Kimball.

What Can You Do to Cut Down the Cost of Living?

"Start in with baking at home. It's easy to make good bread—better than you can buy—and you'll be surprised how much you can save.

"What you save on the cost of the bread is only half the story. The better your bread, the more your family will eat, and, in eating more bread they will naturally eat less of other more expensive foods.

"There is twice as much food value in a pound of flour as in a pound of meat—and the meat will cost you probably five times as much.

"All you need is a good recipe and a good flour—these two things are essential.

"One of the best flours that I know—one that I have used in my own baking for years, is made in Ohio—right in the Miami Valley where the rich limestone soil produces a soft winter wheat of peculiarly superior quality.

WILLIAM TELL FLOUR

"It's easy to work with; you can use it for everything, and it gives a most delicious nutty flavor to your baking.

"Try it in your own home."

WILLIAM TELL FLOUR is the Flour of the Triple Guarantee. Guaranteed under the Ohio Better Flour Label, by the manufacturer who made it, and by the grocer who sells it.

33 1-3% Increase in Prices Paid. I have fifteen acres of cultivated Raspberries to be picked in August and the prospect is that the crop will be the heaviest for many years. I expect to get at least fifty thousand baskets and am prepared to take care of several thousand more.

BETHEL

Middle Intervale

The beautiful woodbine clinging to the end of the Maple and Pine Farm house fell down during a late wind and rain. How it clings to the clapboards and nails, so much like humanity, but the struggles and storms of life tear off the part and it falls, but the roots remain and will sprout up even after the body part is cut off, so is human life. How closely connected is the natural with the spiritual existence. How much candid thought and attention can be applied to this little event. We watched the vine with joy as it grew up higher and its foliage more beautiful than ever before when suddenly the blast of death, as it seemed, tore it from what it clung so firmly to and fell to the ground over its roots.

Haying is in progress now. Blueberry pickers are out occasionally. Gardens look well. Hawks and other creatures are among the chickens, and only with a smile and kindness of heart does existence seem worth while.

MAINE'S NEW DIMMER LAW

Maine's new headlight dimmer law for automobiles and electric cars went into effect on August 15. The new regulations are excellent ones and are in keeping with those adopted by other leading states. They contain, however, two provisions which are believed to be strictly in advance of other states. These are a ruling limiting the candle power of automobile headlights to 24, and also regulating the use of the somewhat obnoxious spot light.

The complete regulations are as follows:

Motor Vehicles

After Aug. 15, 1917, no motor vehicle shall be operated on or along any highway or other way between the hours of one-half hour after sunset and one-half hour before sunrise unless the headlights on any such motor vehicle are constructed and operated as follows:

(1) No bulb or lamp used in any such headlight shall be of greater candle power than 24 (or equivalent wattage). (2) The lens or glass in the front part of any such light (if the lens be of plain glass) shall be sandblasted or frosted on the inside so that no direct or reflected ray from said light shall be on a level road and seventy-five (75) feet ahead of any such motor vehicle, more than forty-two (42) inches from the ground.

This frosting may be temporarily done with white paint or bon ami in sufficient quantity to prevent glare.

Note: Experiments have shown that this result may be accomplished by sandblasting or frosting the lens on a level line down to a point one (1) inch below the center of the lamp bulb. No clear glass should be left above this line. Some lamps are hung lower on some cars than on others and care, by experiment, should be taken to see that the direct or reflected rays are not higher than the above named forty-two (42) inches.

(3) In case a "Fracto" or similar device is used, sandblasting or frosting is unnecessary but great care must be used in focusing the light as improper focusing will throw the rays upward and produce the unlawful glare.

(4) Persons using lenses so constructed that no glaring rays are supposed to be produced (the Warner Legalight and others being typical) are not required to sandblast or frost such lenses; but strict regard must be had to the 24-candle power limit or bulbs as higher candle power produces the dangerous glare from any such lens.

(5) Any light may be "dimmed" in cities and villages where street lights exist and are burning not over five hundred (500) feet apart.

(6) No spotlight shall be used on any motor vehicle except for the purpose of casting a light to the right or left or the rear of a car and then only when the car is stationary or in slow speed or in reverse. When any motor vehicle is gotten under headway, the spotlight shall be turned entirely out and under no circumstances shall be turned toward any approaching vehicle.

WHY A PLAYER?

How many times do people say that they'd like to have "life to live over again?" Sort of a foolish wish. What's past is gone and regretting isn't going to bring it back not one inch or one second nearer.

What are the things YOU would like to bring back? Are you sorry you didn't have a musical education? Many people have been so busy doing things, they couldn't exercise their talents much. They found other work to do—more pressing work.

The Playerpiano is for people of that kind—for people who DIDN'T HAVE THE CHANCE—or who wouldn't take it. But—the Playerpiano fills in that gap of things you've wished for. It supplies music to you—BY YOUR OWN EFFORTS—that's maybe better than you would have learned it even if you'd studied and practised.

And it gives you that satisfaction of having a piano in your home. It makes it LIKE OTHER HOMES. It's a lot better than looking into the fire, and wondering WHY you hadn't improved your opportunities a good deal. It's better than a home SILENT for lack of music. It seems as though you'd let more LIGHT into your home and captured it, to feed it out just as your desires tell you to. The PLAYERPIANO is the bridge that connects today with what MIGHT HAVE BEEN in the long ago!

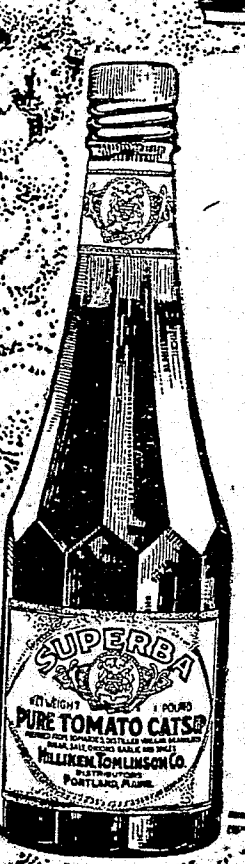

Pianos, Playerpianos and Organs. New music rolls every month. Send for catalogues.

The services were largely attended by old friends of hers and several of her old schoolmates were present as Mrs. Hersey was a long time resident of this place. The remains were interred in the Berry family lot in Buckfield beside her father and mother. About a month ago she was stricken with neuritis and suffered intense pain, yet was up around in a few days, when she was again stricken. She was under the care of trained nurses and everything possible done to relieve her suffering.

Wednesday it was decided to remove her to the Maine General hospital in Portland and she was taken there by train Thursday morning. She gradually failed on the way, never regained consciousness after entering the hospital and passed away that evening at 6 P. ## "I FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN," SAYS RAILWAY WORKER

Carmel Citizen Gladly Tells What New Tanlac Did For Him

"I feel better than I have for years. Yes, I feel like a new man since I have taken this new Tanlac," declared Julius Parsons, of Carmel, Me. Mr. Parsons is employed by the Maine Central R. R. and he was a sufferer from stomach trouble, as are so many other men and women here.

"After I would eat I would have a heavy, dull feeling and get sleepy," Mr. Parsons explained. "I had stomach trouble and indigestion for quite awhile. (Gas would form and I would suffer pain and distress from the bloating. My food did not seem to digest at all, but just soured in my stomach.

"I suffered so long that my appetite got very poor. Now I feel so good that it gives me a lot of pleasure to recommend Tanlac. I have taken three bottles of this new medicine and I am not troubled at all with my stomach. I can eat what I please and the old bad feeling is gone."

Tanlac, the reconstructive stomach tonic and system purifier that has been recommended by so many thousands of Maine men and women has become a household word here.

A FEW FACTS

Do people in general know that by the close of the year 1916, sixteen nations had been swept into the war, nearly two-thirds of the population of the world. The population of the twelve allied powers is 945,886,125. The population of the central powers is 163,580,000.

The population of all the nations at war is therefore 1,109,466,225. The world's population is 1,721,426,000.

Never has the cost of war in money been so great. In round numbers the first two years' war cost the nations engaged in it $50,000,000,000, an average cost of about $65,000,000 a day. At the close of the first two years the expense amounted to about $70,000 a minute, night and day or $100,000,000 a day. The total expense for operating the government of the U. S. during 1915, was a little more than $700,000,000 an amount which would finance this war only a week.

The total cost in lives and dollars of all the great wars of the last century is not much more than one-half the cost of this war during the first two years.

BRING BACK THE BREAD CROP

The imperative need for food crops may be the means of restoring grain farming in New England. Whether the high prices for wheat and rye are permanent or not, but certainly New England is no longer competing against unexhausted prairie soils. The fertilizer which the Middle Western farmer is now buying and the increased freight rate which the railroads are asking, will both act as a protective tariff, to once again favor home grain production.

As the matter now stands, however, even if New England farmers respond with acreage of wheat and rye as they have with corn, it can have but little effect on the human food supply in New England—the machinery is not at hand to grind the grain into flour and meal. The old New England grist mill is gone.

It would be a worth while piece of work for the local council of National Defense Committees, Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and County Farm Bureaus to bring them back. The farmer must be assured that there will be a mill to grind his grain. The miller must be guaranteed enough grain to warrant equipping his plant again. The cost of equipment will not be great and the advantages will be many.

Money will be kept at home. The land will once again be put to work in producing bread crops. No longer will the sole dependence of the New England farmer be upon the dairy farm. At the same time there will be local production of mill by-products which the dairyman so badly needs.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Joseph Andrews, Marietta, Ohio Dear Advertiser: As a few words as possible, I will give you my experience as to the high cost of living, which has been agitating the country for the last year or two. Soon after my return from my Maine visit last fall I fitted up my room and began keeping a cash, I have gas heat and light, and bathroom but a few feet away, and have a three hole gas burner over which I do what little cooking I need to have done. In the last 33 weeks ending June 3d, my entire grub expenses has been as follows: boneless herring 50 cents; prepared toast $2.50; peanuts 35; peanut butter 35; butter-milk $1.30; apples $4.50; cottage cheese $1.95; pumpkin pie, $1.75; corn meal 45c; wheat for graham 75c; rice 70c; cocoa 50c; bullion cubes $1.15; doughnuts 90c; milk 50c; bananas 45c; sugar $3.65; crackers 50c; grapes 50c; instant postum 75c; prunes 65c; seedless raisins 50c; honey, extracted, $3.26; olive oil $4.30; cheese $3.44; rhubarb 10c; ginger snaps 25c; strawberries 20c; shredded wheat biscuits 15 cents, a total for 33 weeks of $35.60.

An average per week of $1.08; per day 15c, per meal 7 1/2 cents, as on the start I adopted the two meal a day plan. On March 24 I finished a seven day endurance, and low cost of living test. Here is my bill of fare for the week: Graham .06; rice .08; corn meal .04; sugar .08; prepared toast .10 and milk .13. A total for the seven days of 49 cents, per day 7 cents and per meal of 3 1/2 cents, and I walked for the week 50 miles, making on the last day 20 miles.

On May 5th, I finished another of my seven day stunts, I cut out toast and milk, and my menu for the week was as follows, graham 2 cups, .06; rice one cup .04; corn meal three cups, .06; and sugar 2 cups, 12 cents. A total for the week of .28, per day 4 cents and per meal .02. And here comes my final stunt for endurance, and low cost of living, I am now June 4, living on one meal a day, and am on my third week, and here is the cost: my grub for the week ending May 31: Graham, 1 cup, .03; corn meal, one cup, .02; rice, one cup, .05; sugar, two cups, .08; total for the seven days, .18, an average for the week of .02 1/2 per day and the same per meal, and for the week I walked 90 miles, 10 miles a day for the first five days, 15 miles for the sixth day and 25 miles for the seventh day. I measured the graham, corn meal, rice and sugar in a medium sized cup, and weighed each on a two pound postal scale.

I am 73 years of age, and am feeling fine, and weighed the last day of my test 169 pounds. I propose to stick to my one meal a day plan until I get tired of it, then if I make a change go back to my two meals a day plan. I drink at least three quarts of hot water, cocoa or instant postum each day, and the two gallons of extracted honey that I have used, was all used to sweeten my hot drink. For graham I bought wheat and ground it in a coffee mill that I bought for that purpose. My corn meal I bought in town, and most of my groceries I ordered from a Chicago Mail Order House. While giving my stomach a rest, I have tried to do my bit towards helping to reduce the high cost of living, and help to feed the starving millions of Europe. I have spared up and attended mostly to the hoeing and weeding of two city lot gardens, and have earned $3.75 in hard cash in helping out a farmer who lives five miles out in the country. I help put in a crop at 20 per drop, the first money I have earned as a hired man in 50 years. When I began my two meal a day plan, I was troubled with high blood pressure, and shortness of breath, and weighed over 200 pounds. Now I have not an ache or a pain, am long winded, and sleep like a pig for about eight hours and I eat no more at a meal than when I ate three meals a day. My stomach is no longer abused and reciprocated, by giving me improved health and strength.

Up to this time, June 3d, we have had a very cold, wet and backward spring, and unless it warms up soon we will stand a mighty poor chance of raising that bumper corn crop with which to feed a hungry, starving world.

I note with sadness the passing of William Gordon. He lived to a good old age and was one of Fryeburg's grand old men. All through life his ready wit, cheerful voice, and friendly smile, great circle of personal friends, and his large circle of personal friends, and he will not be soon forgotten. He and E. P. Western and Noah Palmer of Lovell Centre, makes three old friends that have passed away since my visit to Maine less than a year ago.

BETHEL

Deborah Young Holt Again has the death angel visited us and called Deborah Young Holt to the higher life.

She was born in Greenville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Young. She had one brother, who lived in California many years and died there, also two sisters.

She will be greatly missed not only in her own home, but to the entire community to whom she was always "Aunt Deborah." Always cheerful and always ready with a helping hand as many homes can testify. She was baptised in the Baptist Church at Middle Intervale, April 25th, 1858. She was always devoted and loyal to her church and its principles with a firm and unshaken trust in her Savior.

In her last illness she was tenderly cared for by her daughter and niece, Ann Varney.

A long life of eighty-five years has been granted her for helpfulness and loving service. She had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Anlis of Foxboro, Mass., are guests of Mrs. Anlis's uncle, Fred Wood.

Mrs. Emma Robertson accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Traeman to Poland to attend the Methodist camp meeting this week.

Mrs. Rufus Rice of Readfield is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bartlett.

Mrs. E. E. L. Farwell is visiting relatives at York Beach and will go to Hooksett, N. H., to remain till September.

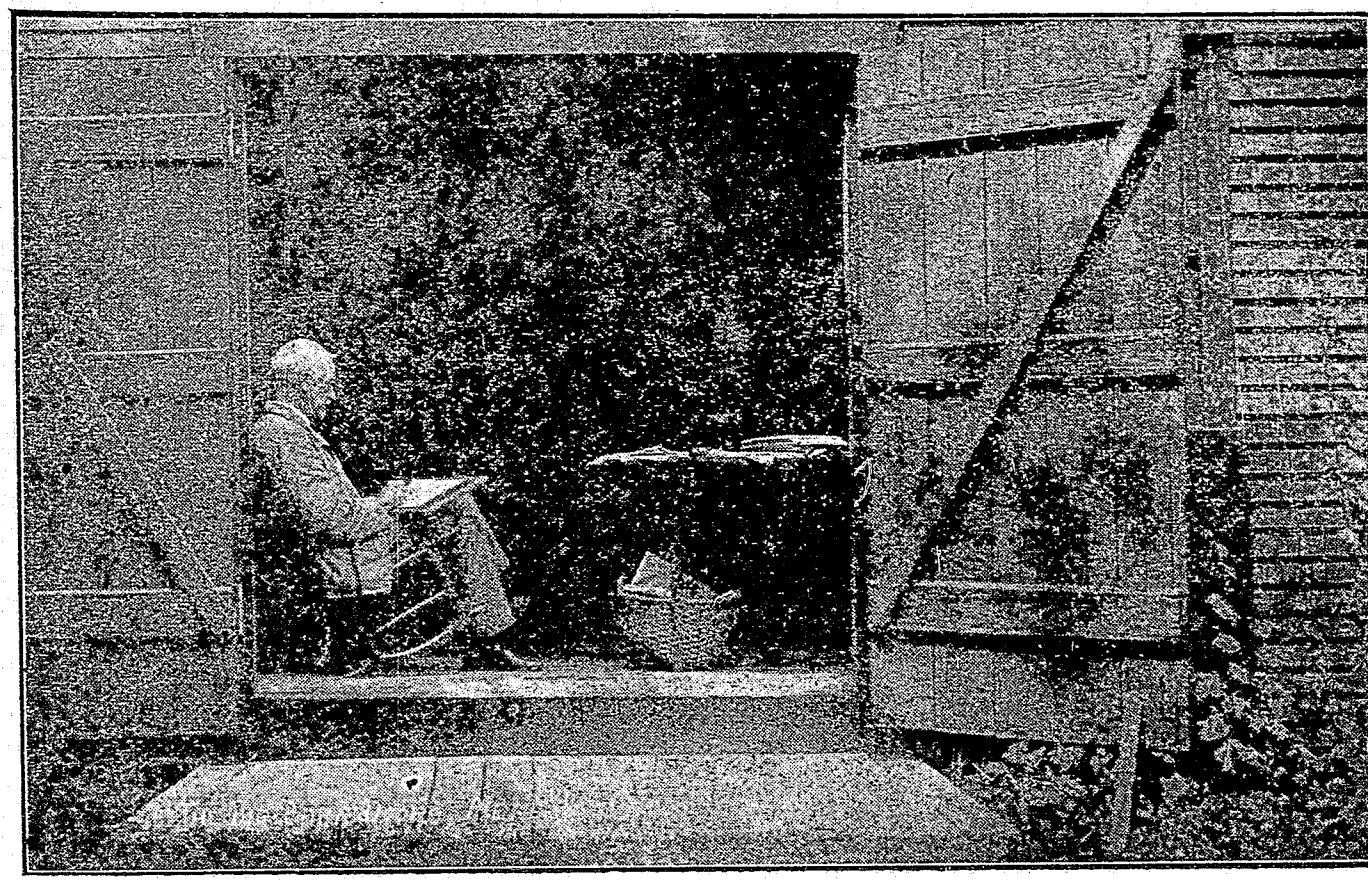

Bethel people are interested in the appointment as Second Lieutenant, Rev. and Mrs. Traeman to Poland to attend the Methodist camp meeting this week.

Harold E. Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Rich of Bethel, Mr. Rich is the only enlisted man at Plattsburg from Oxford county. He was a graduate of Goulds academy and held high rank at West Point.

Mr. Rich was instrumental in the organization of a large company of Boy Scouts which are now prepared to assist the Red Cross, police, Coast Patrol, etc.

BIG BARN DOOR SKETCHES

Devoted to Travel, Explorations and Discoveries In and About the Home of My Youth.

F. W. SANBORN AND "THE BIG BARN DOORS" AT MEREDITH CENTER, N. H.

Walter took Melissa round the lake and allowed me and a few others to accompany him. The distance is a little over 67 miles and you were in sight of the Smile of the Giant Spirit nearly all the way. I directed Melissa to be headed south-by-east and laid the course for Alton Bay Camp Grounds. I occupied the rear left-hand seat and the course gave me the lake shore view all the way round that blooming expanse of waters.

This lake is wonderful in having a name that can be spelt correctly twenty-seven different ways. I'll not enumerate but allow you to use your judgement in spelling and pronouncing. Its shores and islands are generously dotted with man-made and woman-bossed bungalows from the four dollar shack to the millionaire's estate. All looking beautiful and in full bloom.

I viewed at close range the wonders of Pease Hill and interviewed Almon Page on his back piazza as to the exact spot presided over by Editor A. M. Weeks and family. Al and daughter had returned to the city as trains are only allowed to run when the dew is on the ground. Sorry not to have met him and listened to his remarks on the scenery and possibilities of the place. The wife was engaged in trying to make a stove outline the moon and was succeeding admirably while the boy took life easy reading. Train service is the only fly in the ointment and I understand a new schedule is promised.

A stirrup-call or perhaps I should say a chariot-pause was made at "The Lovell" president only by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ward Clark, who come annually from that busy Massachusetts town. They have been coming for 30 years and now have grandchildren, motor boats and a big house in their family as well as a garden back of the house.

I tried in vain to find the summer home of Chas. Gilman Jenness of Rochester. Was told by a pleasant faced old lady that Mr. Jenness and friends always left the fruit at the shore and she supposed he had "a place somewhere about there."

I got lost in the wilderness of shacks about the Camp Grounds and gave it up. Amber Connor and Mable peddle soda and ice cream somewhere in Alton, but I was unable to find them. The directory was silent.

The Overhead Parachute sign indicating the exact spot of the Second Communion is gone and only the word "Ground" is left at the archway entrance. Here it is where the Faithful and some others have persistently worshipped and annually predicted His Coming for more than fifty years! A place of hallowed memories and heart rending appeals to the Almighty! I would not detract or interfere. The meeting will soon be on as it comes after haying and usually continues fourteen days and is the great event. Harvest season for the Alton Bayites and a gala day picnic for everybody, railroad and steamboats included.

Alton proper was touched, the home of the ancient fast-trotting Screw Driver and the brilliant and dashing Major Sayer of hotel and war honors as well as others. I looked at the shoe factory and the place where cork-screws are made for the world and the benefit of E. Rockwood Clough. This brought to mind the polite invitation I got from him a year ago to call when in town, but somehow when nearing his home I questioned whether the invitation held good for twelve months and directed Melissa be headed for Wolfboro.

Ravages of pests unknown to me are much in evidence on fruit and oak trees for some miles out of Alton. Probably it is the brown tail. Looks bad anyhow and shows what insect pests can do when left alone in their glory.

Crops everywhere are looking splendid and promise a big harvest if weather conditions are favorable. Farmers anticipate big prices and a quick market. Apple crop will be light in this vicinity, but pigs and hens are numerous, especially those determined to cross the road in front of the car. These plague Walter and cause him to slow down.

Of course we stopped at Taftonboro Bay and spent an hour in the Libby Museum. Everyone who knows anything or has a desire to see the wonders of nature and handiwork of man stop there. It's a liberal education and free to the public from 3 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

I didn't see the good doctor this time so made a more careful examination of things on exhibit from rattlesnakes to tom-a-hawks and pie-plant to gooseberries. Many others were there too. I do not know the number coming and going during the hour, but at one time there were 24 in the room inspecting the works of nature and of man as gathered, housed and laid out by Dr. Libby at his summer home by the big Lake.

I cannot help admiring him as well as the big collection which represents a life's work of patient toil and research all given to the public without bolts, bars, rules, regulations or brass buttoned attendants.

Somewhat it put me on my good behavior and I refrained from walking on the grass and throwing peanut shells on the lawn. So did all the others for the hour I was there. May it so continue is my hope.

Here I met F. B. Grant, wife, son and children of East Gileford, whose postoffice was West Alton in the days when Lewis and Sanborn guided the destiny of the Laconia Democrat and I induced him to take that paper which he did for many years. This he told me also that he had killed black snakes on his farm as big as the one in the show case and that rattlers seldom left their island home in the Lake. He is a grandfather and takes a daily and local paper, owns an automobile and plenty of farm machinery and was making a trip Round-the-Lake, the same as I was, only going in the opposite direction and we met in the Libby Museum.

Walter brought Melissa to the Big Barn Doors in season for dinner as the city people call it. I was taught to designate the evening meal as supper and I'm wondering what the odds as long as you get something to eat.

I forgot to say the name of the lake is pronounced as if spelt "Win-ne-pe-sau-ke" and is said to be of Indian origin and masculine in gender.

Every well ordered home at this season of the year should have a Princess. We have one who attended a Grange meeting the other evening and you should have seen her!

Her hair was done up in a three-deck-dome ending in a ball about the size of a duck's egg. She said it was done to make her look taller and to give shape and form to head and shoulders. How it was accomplished is more than I can state. It was a wonder anyhow and no doubt was envied by all the other young Princesses in the community. Seldom has anything been seen like it and the dead Pharaohs of the Nile couldn't help sitting up and taking notice of it.

Mother was pretty much dolled up that evening and looked about as handsome as when I first met her forty odd years ago in New Hampton.

I couldn't attend as I was too tired, having picked ten quarts of blueberries that day and I stayed at home to bake the beans and care for the dog.

There was dancing and ice cream after the literary exercises and I understand Mother and Dominique led the Grand March and looked fine.

Col. Martin A. Haynes of Lakeport, celebrated his 75th birthday, Monday, July 30, by working. My calling took him from useful employment and gave him opportunity to put down "the war of 1917" for the allies under certain conditions which he plainly and vigorously enunciated.

I enjoyed the talk and old time energy which characterized his 29th birthday

Morse, of Yarmouth are guests of S. J. Morse and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Philbrook and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philbrook have returned home from their farm at Sunday River.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Blackwood, Mrs. G. L. Thurston, Marian Mansfield and Mr. L. L. Carver took an auto trip to Portland, Friday.

Ruth Buck, who has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Buck, returned to Boston, Monday.

when I was an apprentice in his office. May he, his good wife, family and friends live long and be happy.

The present war will close as did the war of the Rebellion in which he took an active and honorable part.

I was the last person to wind Grandfather's brass clock. The striking weight can go clear up with a whack, but on the time side you must give the cord three inches of slack or it won't work. Have learnt this by experimenting, after having been told about it for forty-six years by two past generations and the present head of the house—"I not to wind the time side clear up as it will bind."

A few minutes work would relieve it of this infirmity, but then it would not be Grandfather's clock. It would become just an ordinary time-piece that anybody could handle and carcase and its ancestral charm would vanish. No, whatever else may happen, the clock must be this much petted or it will refuse to tick with other clocks in the house.

It shaped, battered and worn it occupies a conspicuous place and we much talked about.

The dog has swallowed a grasshopper and Mother is greatly disturbed.

Top-onions and Broad Windsor beans in the garden as well as potato bugs.

Haying interferes with saw mill operations and I now have a man mowing bushes on the roadside.

After three punctures a nail point was removed from the inner tube and Walter says the trouble is over.

A horse and a calf are in the pasture and they feed about together and at night are not far apart. Why is it?

It is easier to get summer boarders than it is to keep them satisfied with their surroundings and the weather.

"I have 25 head out to pasture and I didn't eat all my hay last winter, either," was the reply made by Geo. Corlies when asked the size of his holdings in cattle.

Strange isn't it that women don't know the capacity of the clothes line and cut the washing to correspond. More line had to be provided for last Monday's wash.

I live a little better when visiting than at home and that is why I'm away from Norway so much. I do not suppose Mrs. Wm. C. Leavitt, mother or the hired girl will see this.

Nancy's babies have grown like pigs the past year. One plays in the sand and the other rolls on the floor in the hallway and gets pleased when I call to use their telephone, which is pretty much out of order all the time.

Arthur Smith and one of his city boarders got to fishing on Fickler Pond a little after 3 o'clock in the morning and stayed until 8:30 a. m. They got four legal lengthed fish and that is all that can be said except to praise their persistence.

When Mother handed Walter some shoe strings I heard her say: "I bought them to wear myself, but found they were men's shoe strings and I did not dare wear them for fear of being called a 'Suffragette.'" How thoughtful! I hope Carrie-Nation-Chapman-Catt won't hear of this as she might think Mother was a slacker in the cause.

Roadside notice reads: "No Trespassing or Fishing on Land or Water." This is a gentle slap in the face to every person situated as I am. Take those liberties from me and I'd return to Maine at once. What do you suppose I'm here for if not to fish and trespass and annoy. New Hampshire ought to be consistent in its pretenses. It wisely and persistently advertises as the summer herding ground for idle people and such notices are shocking. Better put up warning like: "Look Out for Snakes, Lizards, Toads, Gentlemen Ox, Infuriated Cows, etc."

Wallace Cooleedge and wife who have been stopping at W. E. Cooleedge's the past week have gone. Wallace to work for Prof. Chapman of Bethel and his wife to West Bethel to stay with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bryant of Auburn with their two children, Gerald and Howard, are at W. W. Brink's.

All schools in the town of Stoneham will open August 27th.

BUMPER CROPS

The whole country is making a determined effort to increase the crop yield this summer. There is a waiting market for every pound of it, and this will add millions to the incomes of the farmers.

Factories will be working day and night to turn out the enormous supplies required by our own government and our allies. Millions and millions again will go into the pockets of the people.

Some of this money will be banked, but MUCH OF IT WILL BE SPENT. It will be a fight between the local dealer, the city merchant and the mail order man to see WHO GETS IT.

What are YOU doing, Mr. Local Merchant, toward getting this immense volume of business? Are you telling the people of the articles you have to sell, and of the advantages of buying at home? Or are you going to let the city merchant and the mail order man do the advertising AND GET MOST OF THE BUSINESS? It is squarely up to you! This is a local newspaper.

LIQUOR SELLING AND GAMBLING NOT ALLOWED

Liquor selling and gambling will not be allowed on the grounds of any agricultural fair association and a conviction of this nature will mean that the fair association will lose its state stipend.

The letter sent out recently by Hon. John A. Roberts of Norway, Commissioner of Agriculture is as follows:

"I desire to call your attention to the laws of the State of Maine, which provides that each agricultural society receiving a stipend from the state and all agricultural societies receiving aid from the state by special act of the legislature, shall cause the prohibitory liquor law to be enforced on all grounds over which they have control, and not allow any immoral shows, gambling in any form or games of chance on said grounds.

"This law is explicit and the intention of it was to provide clean fairs. It is open to anyone to make complaint against a fair on account of conditions existing during its exhibition. Those having charge of a fair should be in a position to show that they took reasonable steps to prevent violation of the law."

BRIDGTON

Bridgton Fair
Camp day, the first day of the Bridgton fair, was the most successful ever held, there being fully 1,000 people witnessing the water sports at the foot of Highland Lake, Tuesday morning. The campers, in their gay costumes, with their songs and yells, formed the most attractive feature of the day. A parade at noon, with about ten camps in line, carrying signs and banners, and headed by the Woodmen Band, marched through the streets, attracting the applause of the many people, along the streets and in autos. At the fair grounds, the event of the day was the military drill by Camp Kinco, in charge of Elmer Q. Oliphant, U. S. M. A., who is the star athlete of West Point, and who will soon go to France in charge of a branch of the heavy artillery. The manner in which the 90 boys in khaki executed the drill was marvelous, and they were decidedly the feature of the day. The following is a summary of the water sports and track events:
